Indicate your theme: Centre for Race, Education and Decoloniality (CRED)

Webinar topic: Race and Inclusion

Phase 1: asynchronous

A video talk 'Anti-ziganism and education: translanguaging to transcend' will be shared on Teams. The talk is by Dr.Heather Smith, Newcastle University and was hosted by the Centre for Race, Education and Decoloniality (CRED), Leeds Beckett University. The talk is about an inquiry into linguistic resources of the Roma community.

The video will be available in Teams from 4 May 2021.

Please watch the video and consider these questions:

Are the Roma a marginalised/excluded community in your country?

If so, why is this the case?

How is 'race' considered in educational contexts within your country?

Phase 2: synchronous

A synchronous webinar which expands on themes and issues raised through the video talk.

5 pm CET, 10 May 2021

Attendance/ participation be evidenced by Screenshots of webinar/ synchronous session, certificates for participants.

Phase 3: asynchronous

Identify three ways in which you can be scholar activists in their institutions to support the elimination of racism.

The tasks, artefacts produced by attendees will be online on Teams.
